

ADSY

Adsy Policies

Knowledge Base • Effective Date: August 13, 2026

Refund Policy

Refund requests may be considered for eligible cancellations, approved billing errors, or services that materially fail to match agreed deliverables, subject to contract terms. Completed services, approved custom work, third-party fees, and delivered work may be non-refundable. Refund requests should include the order/project reference, reason, and supporting evidence. Approved refunds are generally initiated within 5–10 business days.

Cancellation Policy

Customers may request cancellation before work starts, subject to the applicable agreement. Cancellation after work begins may result in charges for completed milestones, committed resources, or non-recoverable third-party costs. Recurring services can be cancelled according to subscription terms.

Privacy Policy

Adsy may collect contact, account, transaction, project, support, and technical information needed to operate services. Information may be used to provide services, process transactions, communicate with customers, improve products, prevent misuse, and meet legal obligations. Reasonable technical and organizational safeguards are used to protect information.

Service Policy

Adsy aims to deliver services according to agreed scope, milestones, quality criteria, and technical requirements. Customers must provide accurate requirements, approvals, credentials, content, and access. Scope changes should be documented and may change cost or schedule. Services must not be used for unlawful, fraudulent, abusive, or harmful activities.

Support Policy

Support may cover account, billing, technical, service, and deployment-related issues depending on the plan. Support requests should include account/project reference, issue description, expected behavior, actual behavior, and relevant screenshots or logs. Unresolved issues may be escalated to a technical specialist or management contact.